

Powerfully Simple

Looking for a mission critical call recording solution?

That's generally not an easy quest.

Most likely, you've already run across some of the "solutions" out there. Call recording vendors are infamous for having a disjointed hodge-podge of offerings. Often, there's reasonable doubt that the proposed solution will even work for you. It's hard to get quoted the "real" price. And future support for all these lines? Well, one can only guess.

At Accurate Always, we do things differently. Our philosophy is to offer optimal performance and flexibility in one clear comprehensive solution. We deliver systems that are full featured, affordable and ready for deployment.

Our senior staff works with you to learn about your center and what you need. Our proposals clearly state one price, for one solution, uniquely tailored for you.

One Line

It seems like just yesterday that Accurate Always' exclusive call recording platform, Voxida, laid claim on the market as the only commercial voice application engineered from the ground-up to support digital multi-channel voice recording. It's good to see that some things don't change.

Voxida drives the legendary industrial-grade servers with proven strength, built on solid engineering and voice capture innovation. Today, all of Voxida's features are available to you in one, powerfully simple, package.

One Price

You need a solution - not downtime. You need to protect your bottom-line and control cost overruns. We get that.

We won't waste your time or add-on expensive "gotchas" that blow your budget. Voxida's integrated solutions are proposed, and quoted, in their entirety, without confusion or any unwanted surprises.

Many Success Stories

We hate to brag, but Accurate Always has been getting around. Voxida was chosen to log flight communication data in the Joint Strike Fighter project and is widely used in defense and mission-critical call centers around the world. We work closely with small and mid-sized contact centers, healthcare, finance, educational institutions and safety organizations daily. You can also see some of our solutions at work with the Boeing, Lockheed Martin and Stanford Research International.

Where's our next big win?

We suspect it is in your call center. Voxida solutions address the growing need for secure recording and live monitoring in all customer contact centers, help desks and in aerospace and defense environments. We also go to work for banking and financial verification, public safety compliance and incident reconstruction, insurance and healthcare HIPAA compliant call recording and quality monitoring solutions. And we're just getting warmed up. Come see us at www.accuratealways.com.
